Maggie LaNoue has been a full-time professional artist since 1981. Her work began with hand-drawn pen and ink, oil paintings, and English watercolor.

Born in Washington D.C., she came to Albion, Michigan to attend Albion College, where she is a third generation honors graduate. Maggie also studied at the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington D.C. Maggie's prints of Michigan can be seen at MichiganPrints.com.

Giclée printing is a new process using advanced technology to create a lustrous, continuous-tone digital print that meets or exceeds the quality of traditional lithography.

Investment quality art: Maggie's larger prints are available in this gallery as well as at MichiganPrints.com Michigan Prints by Maggie LaNoue were first created in 1981 and featured her "Tour of Michigan." Now, the larger prints are still hand-signed by the artist, and feature 100% rag mats, conservation backings and all archive quality materials. This print will last for generations when framed under glass. Some gifts with Maggie's art of Marshall can be seen at Zazzle.com/*maggie-lanoue, including coasters, playing cards, pillows and tiles of Brooks Fountain.

Maggie is also the publisher of the General Guide. Be sure to pick up a copy while you are here. Thank you for checking out this gallery and all the artists' work.
